Saturday 8. September 2018 – 15:00 – 16:30

(in alphabetical order by presenter)

The Original Body (in English)

We will work with the Reichian four stages: stimulation-Charge-discharge – relaxation. The participants will be invited to delve into the four stages to discover and experience the situations and conflicts that are in the body and soul. Accompanied by movement, breathing, and psychopathic work.

The workshop is 3 hours long designed for up to 20/25 participants.

Presenter(s)

Assaf Avraham, Physician, Reichenian and relational psychotherapist. He explores and deepens mental and physical contexts. Instructs and teaches psychotherapy groups at the Reidman College and privately. Member of ILABP and E.A.B.P.

Structural Consolidation through Body-Mind Intervention (in English)

Personality disorder is characterised by a split between body and mind. Usually it arises from unbearable experiences of violence or neglect. The split becomes a cycle of psychopathology passed down through the generations and is what I understand as inherited birth pain of knowledge. After a theoretical introduction to this problem at the beginning of the workshop, we will explore a set of biodynamic exercises to overcome the pathology of structural deficits and use bodily techniques to strengthen ego function, such as improving body perception, coordination, the capacity to contain affective charge and vegetative self-regulation.

Presenter(s)

Siegfried Bach is a clinical psychologist and biodynamic body psychotherapist. Qualifying in the 70s, he accompanied Gerda Boyesen in her last decade of teaching. Today he works with chronic-pain patients at the Westfalen Clinic in Dortmund and teaches at the London School for Biodynamic Psychotherapy.

Trauma, Schmerz, Entfremdung (in German)

Trauma und chronischer Schmerz gehören zu den schwersten körperlichen Entfremdungserfahrungen die wir Menschen kennen. Das in der traumatisierenden Situation überlebenswichtige Abschalten von Gefühlen, führt neurobiologisch zur Fehlverarbeitung von Schmerzerleben mit Folgen für die Körperwahrnehmung und Störungen des Körperbildes. Vitalität und Flow gehen bei vielen Betroffenen gänzlich verloren, insbesondere in aktuell belastenden privaten und beruflichen Lebensumständen. Wir vermitteln unsere langjährigen verfahrensübergreifenden Erfahrungen mit akut traumatisierten PatientInnen und chronifizierten SchmerzpatientInnen. Aus gemeinsamer körperpsychotherapeutischer Sicht ist die Selbstwahrnehmung der Körpergrenzen und der aktiven Handlungsorientierung notwendig, um traumatische Erfahrungen verarbeiten zu können und Schmerz in Gefühl, Resonanz und Lebensintensität zu überführen.

Presenter(s)

Ute Backmann, Therapeutin für Konzentrierte Bewegungstherapie (KBT), Dipl. Sozialarbeiterin, Master of Arts, Fortbildungen in Traumatherapie bei Reddemann und Huber.

Martin J. Waibel, Lehrtherapeut für Integrative Bewegungstherapie (IBT), MSc (Psychotherapie), Dipl. Supervisor, Dipl. Sozialarbeiter, versch. körperth. Verfahren.

Body-Psychotherapy - grounded in Quantum Physics (in English and German)

Lecture, Exercises - How can resonance, energy and creativity be seen through the new physics and philosophy and in a new perspective different from esoterism. Away from old mechanistic view (Newton), where empathy and healing must stay inexplicable, we go to the open possibilities ("Heisenberg's uncertainty"), shown in quantum physics and the experience of wholeness. Quantum effects don't only relate to the microscopic world, but to everything, especially living systems, which is proven for example in photosynthesis. Quantum physics appear very complicated, but conclusions and implications for Body Psychotherapy are easy to share.

Die Körperpsychotherapie - verwurzelt in der Quantenphysik

Die heutige Quantenphysik belegt Grundannahmen der Körperpsychotherapie. Wir verstehen das Thema unseres Vortrags als Herausforderung, uns damit auseinanderzusetzen.

Presenter(s)

Christian Bartuska, 1946, Body Psychotherapist, Dynamic Group Psychotherapist, Core Energetics.

Gabriele Bartuska, 1952, Body Psychotherapist, Clinical and Health Psychologist, Client Centered Psychotherapy. We both are trained in Biodynamic Body Psychotherapy, Organismic Psychotherapy, working for more than 40 years, trainers for Body Psychotherapy since 1986, editors and authors of „Zeitschrift für Körperpsychotherapie“, married, living in Vienna. www.bartuska.at

Developmental aspects of wisdom – how compassionate mental insight is born (in English)

In this workshop we will discuss and practice the childhood development sequence of how embodied, compassionate insight develops during childhood, known as mentalisation in modern psychology. Mentalisation develops through three primary stages, a) embodiment and concrete experience, b) symbolization & role play and finally c) mental reflection. We will focus on experiencing and playing with relationship between the three levels of mentalisation to find new pathways to embodied insight into ourselves and others.

Presenter(s)

Marianne Bentzen is a Bodypsychotherapist and author. A Bodydynamics trainer 1985-97, from 1998 she and psychologist Susan Hart have charted a cradle-to-grave overview of neuroaffective personality development (NAPD). Marianne's work spans psychomotor development, developmental neuropsychology, trauma treatment, evolutionary psychology and systems approaches. A long-time meditator, she also brings a spiritual perspective to her work.

Ignorance and Denial of Man's Spirit in Post-Modern Society

(in English)

The author is a student of the master healer and theoretical physicist, Nicolai Levashov. He has been able to verify Levashov's description of the spirit and how it functions with our physicality and operates in life. Problems of malaise can readily be traced to an inability of modern men and women to reach their spiritual potential. We know that "something is missing" in our lives. The author will describe the spirit, its development, the origin of our malaise and how to cure it.

Presenter(s)

Richard A. Blasband is a psychiatrist trained in medical orgonomy by Elsworth F. Baker, appointed by Wilhelm Reich to train orgonomists. He has published over 60 papers on medial and physical orgonomy. Over the past 25 years he has been practicing world-wide as a healer trained by Nicolai Levashov in his healing methods.

Aus der Einengung in den „Flow“ der Begegnung (in Deutsch)

Ängste und Stress engen unsere Vitalität ein, begrenzen neue Erfahrungen. Wir laden Sie ein zu erlebnisorientiertem Erforschen: Wie schützen und stabilisieren wir uns durch Abgrenzen? Wie öffnen wir unsere Grenzen und lassen uns ein auf Begegnungen mit uns, mit anderen und der Welt? Wie transformieren wir Angst und Stress zu Neugierde und „Flow“? Wie können wir gleichzeitig verbunden sein mit uns selbst, den anderen und der Situation? In leiblichen und zwischenleiblichen Experimenten werden Selbstwahrnehmung und Selbsterkenntnis angeregt. Theoretische Konzepte der IBT wie „Hermeneutische Spirale“, „Komplexes Lernen“ und „Zwischenleiblichkeit“ werden verdeutlicht.

Presenter(s)

Ingrid Braunbarth

Soziologin, Integrative Bewegungstherapeutin (IBT), Paartherapeutin, Systemische Coach; seit 1996 als Bewegungstherapeutin in einer psychosomatischen Klinik mit Schwerpunkt Angststörungen, Depression und Burnout tätig.

Veröffentlichungen: Angststörungen. In: Waibel, Jakob-Krieger (Hrsg): Integrative Bewegungstherapie 2009, Die 4 Wege der Heilung bei Depression. (s.o.)

Klara Kreidner-Salahshour

An Embodied Dialogue Process for Leadership (in English)

As a trained body-oriented psychotherapist and as a leadership and organizational wellbeing consultant, I work mostly with leaders who struggle with the relationship side of their roles (and may have been identified as Narcissistic/Psychopathic by HR), whose style of leadership may be contributing to high stress in their teams. Combining the knowledge of body practice with Dialogical Leadership (Van Loon, 2017), I introduce a process which supports leaders to engage in an embodied, reflective dialogue with themselves and others to increase awareness and improve overall system wellbeing. This workshop will provide theory and background, allowing participants to engage with the process.

Presenter(s)

Angel Buster, MA, MSc. is a psychologist and body-oriented therapist in private practice, specialized in work-life energy management and the development of relational capacities. Using an embodied dialogical approach, she supports individuals and organizations to transition to more compassionate and authentic forms of leadership.

Body Psychotherapy in our Changing World - Our body holds thousands of untold stories (in English)

Based on the short film exploring 'Body Psychotherapy in Our Changing World', the workshop integrates a range of material – using a mix of case studies, visual and interactive experiential activities to provide a central narrative encouraging critical appraisal and curiosity. With a focus on the ways 'Our body holds thousands of untold stories', this hands-on workshop explores what people understand by subjective wellbeing and how these understandings change over time and across many cultures. Recent developments in this field of knowledge and its contributions and implications for Body Psychotherapy and the psychotherapeutic process will be explored.

Presenter(s)

Sheila Butler works as a Clinical Researcher and Co-ordinator of Projects in Mental Health Psychological Therapies in the National Health Service (NHS) in UK. She is a practicing psychotherapist and also a lecturer at the Open University. Current developments have focused on working to develop and implement Practice / Practitioner Research Networks and Reflective Practice Networks to provide a space for exploration and mutual learning across a community of practitioners. She is also a member of the Society of Psychotherapy Research (SPR). She has recently designed and co-produced the short film 'Body Psychotherapy in the Changing World' for EABP.

Vitality and Flow Vs Alienation: What happens during the perinatal time? (in English)

Nowadays, the alienation looks like the “normal” way of life. In these psycho-social conditions, what happens during the perinatal time? What happens to the baby and to the parents? Find out the confidence in one's own feeling, emotion and in the wisdom of the body; trust in the flow of the life and don't be afraid of vitality may be the answers to the alienation. During our workshop we can experience how we can restore a deep contact with oneself body, emotions and feelings during pregnancy, birth, breast feeding, up to standing on your own legs, to prevent the alienation.

Presenter(s)

Fabio Carbonari & Francesca Zoppi are Psychologists and Reichian Body Psychotherapists, co-founders of the “Istituto Reich per la Prevenzione Primaria e la Psicoterapia Corporea". In the prevention field their approach is based on Eva Reich's Gentle Bio-Energetics.

Savoring Aliveness: A bodymindfulness practice (in English)

Savoring or "staying with" sensations, especially those that are pleasurable can expand your capacity to enjoy contact with yourself and others. The awareness practice of "staying with" invites you to become more grounded and to experience what "gets in the way" of opening to contact. In this experiential workshop you will have the opportunity to experience the power of "noticing, focusing and following through" on what you sense so you become more present to the bodyself moment. Discover how you stop yourself from taking in pleasurable contact. The sensing experiments are drawn from the Sensory Awareness work of Charlotte Selver whose teacher, Elsa Gindler practiced in Berlin.

Presenter(s)

Ginger Clark, Ph.D. has been practicing somatic psychotherapy for the past 30 years in Venice, California USA. She is a licensed psychotherapist, a certified Bioenergetic practitioner, trained in Gestalt Therapy and Bodydynamics and was certified as a leader of Sensory Awareness by Charlotte Selver. She has co-led Peak/Life Quality workshops with Erik Jarlnaes in Moscow. She published her book "Tuck Yourself In: using your senses to soothe yourself, softening your resistance to self-care in 2013.

ATOPOS: Towards the lands of a homeland within (in English)

The Ancient Greek concept Atopia (Atopy); literally means a person without a homeland - a hot topic in today's socio-political scene. Symbolically, it might also mean to be away from our own homeland within. In this workshop the participants discover theories and techniques about the function of the physical center of the body - which can be a safe start to find that place within- how to settle oneself down on the pelvic floor, how to use it to center their postures, movements, breathing, feelings, thoughts and communication through various techniques from body psychotherapy, yoga, dance, acting and singing.

Presenter(s)

Celâl Eldeniz. Therapist, Voice and Acting Coach. Following studies in Science and Art in Turkey, USA and Greece, Eldeniz pursued a career in three areas: Drama, Music and Psychology through directing, writing, acting coaching, singing coaching and consulting individuals. He teaches university courses on Performance, Psychology of Music and Music History.

Group for professional support: developing universal skills for body-oriented psychotherapy (in English)

Our workshop is about how therapists can take care of themselves and help each other, and is aimed at all the congress participants. Unlike traditional supervision and intervision, our suggested group format allows to get support and advice on specific cases and questions, and also upgrade your professional skills. Self-consciousness, ability to maintain your attention and nonjudgmental observation skills are important for every therapist regardless of approach and professional experience. At our workshop, we will share the results of more than 5 years of searching for such group formats. The workshop will be equally devoted to our presentation and time for practice, feedback, and discussion.

Presenter(s)

Svetlana Ermakova, body-oriented psychotherapist, Bodydynamic practitioner, Feldenkris practitioner, Gestalt therapist, business consultant, EAPB full member, Moscow, Russia.

Anna Gurina, histirian, body-oriented psychotherapist, the tanatotherapist-trainer, the director of the Institute of Practicional Psychology "Terra", Voronezh, Russia.

Alleviating Anxiety (in English)

This workshop will explore the notion that reconnecting with oneself alleviates anxiety. I will highlight what I believe is a missing component in many anxiety treatments — the intrapersonal relationship of the individual. Perls wrote "The formula of anxiety is the gap between the now and then." It is the intrapersonal relationship that fills this gap, and it is breathing and grounding, which manifest this relationship in a direct and highly effective way. Connecting the historical perspective of more than a century of body-psychotherapeutic research to our present-day clinical work, aids in providing a roadmap to alleviating anxiety.

Presenter(s)

Yaniv Gafner, Biosynthesis Body-Psychotherapist, and Life Coach. Experienced in the field of community mental-health, accompanying people coping with anxiety, depression, trauma and various personality disorders. Specializes and researches alleviating anxiety using tools for self-connection. <http://www.yanivgafner.com>

Energetic Vibrational Psychoanalysis and BreathBalance® to manage stress in rigid patient (in English)

Vibrational energy psychoanalysis proposes a model of intervention that provides cues to the patient's neurological system, its energetic system and its historical- emotional imprinting. The workshop is precisely designed to give destructuring messages to the rigid character traits and organizing to "suggest" a new possibility of relating to the world, softer, more relaxed and more flexible. A new balance between the flexor and erector muscles, combined with a greater differentiation of the Reichian body levels, combined with vegetative acting, offer a taste of how vibrational energy psychoanalysis works with a rigid patient.

Presenter(s)

Alfonso Guizzardi, Psychologist, Vibrational Energy Psychoanalyst (P.E.V.), clinical sexologist, Triest and Rome.

Gestures in expectation of a change (in English)

Psychoanalysis affirms the importance of the past in the life of the person, but in the clinical situation what is observed at the moment is a great yearning for the future. There is a kind of contemporary suffering, a kind of depression manifested by the absence of the future and loss of the sense of originality and uniqueness. This lack of future and loss of meaning, causes a cerebral disorganization that can lead to a chaotic experience or rigid stagnation.

In this workshop we will explore the possibility of a reunion with a dynamic balance that allows us to show possible paths towards the future. We will experience possibilities or even supervise possibilities, after a theoretical explanation.

Presenter(s)

Rubens Kignel, Psychotherapist, Body psychotherapist. Doctor in Communication and Semiotics University of Bologna. Ex president and founder of Brazilian Association of Psychotherapy. Member of EABP since the foundation. Guest teacher at University of São Paulo. Independent trainer for different schools of Body Psychotherapy around the world. Founder and director of the Japanese School of Body Psychotherapy BIPS.

Embodied Awareness of Shared Presence and Inter-Connectedness

(in English)

Experiential workshop with short introduction. Nurturing the abilities for deep inter-connectedness is getting urgent in the "liquid modernity" age. What are the very basic modalities of interpersonal contact, which enrich our life and restore healthy emotional flow? How to be able to share closeness without getting into traps of habitual defensive reactions? Working with embodied experience through movements, touch and joint attention we will investigate qualitatively different states of emotional-affective interconnectedness, which are unfolding in the course of child neurobiological and social development, and which support our mutually secure and energizing contacts throughout life. This Workshop is being prepared in collaboration with Erik Jarlnaes, Bodydynamic co-founder, EABP member since 1989. erikjarlnaes1944@gmail.com

Presenter(s)

Elena Osipova, MSc, Dipl.ClinPsych, Bodydynamic Practitioner, gestalt therapist, Full member of Russian Professional Psychotherapeutic League, in the process of applying for EABP membership. e.ossipova@gmail.com

Meaning of Life through links between Quantum Physics, Evolution, Spirituality and Body Psychotherapy (in English and French)

The question of the meaning of life is demanding because it refers to "Why". Our western society tends today to get lost in the "How", making our tools (work, communication ...) always more "effective" : yes, but to go where? Recent studies in the world of work have shown that the loss of meaning in our daily tasks is one of the greatest sources of suffering.

To rediscover this meaning, we will explore the origins of the dual polarized world in which we live and which, if lived as such, can also be a source of feelings of lack and incompleteness. Through the links between Quantum Physics, Evolution, Spirituality and Body Psychotherapy, and a practical application, we will see that from this duality a Love story can be born which brings us back to Unity.

Presenter(s)

Gautier Pidou was first a mechanical engineer and worked as such for 10 years. During that time, he felt a call to complete himself by meeting his sensitive and intuitive hidden parts, particularly through the training of biodynamic psycho-corporal therapist, a profession he now practices in Lyon since 2015.

Vitality restoration intervention in chronic cephalic pain

(in German and English)

Symptoms and stress related disorders occur as an interruption of the flow of vitality. Also Cephalgia leads to a progressive retreat, which results in closure and an association with maladaptive disorders (depression or state anxiety). Functional Psychotherapy provides a holistic approach to treat and rehabilitate the patient. This therapeutic intervention, through means which are adapted to the individuality of the person, aims to restore and re-construct people's altered cognitions. During the workshop it will be possible to experiment some mind-body techniques, which are included in a specific intervention protocol for patients with Cephalgia; you will also be shown the recording of an intervention.

Interventionen zur Wiederherstellung der Vitalität bei chronischem Kopfschmerz

Stresskorrelierte Symptome und Störungen drücken sich aus in einer Unterbrechung des Vitalitätsflusses. So weisen auch Kopfschmerzen in ihren verschiedenen Formen eine Rückzugsdynamik auf, die sich im Abbrechen diverser Aktivitäten äußern: im Arbeitsbereich, auf Beziehungsebenen und in der Pflege des eigenen Befindens; hinzu treten dann Symptome aufgrund dysadaptiver Prozesse wie depressive und Angststörungen.

Die Körperzentrierte Funktionelle Psychotherapie basiert auf einem holistischen Menschenbild, sieht folglich Körper und Geist nicht als voneinander abgespaltene Dimensionen an, sondern sucht individuelles Leiden und Genesen zu verstehen als Integral und Ausdruck aller psychophysiologischen Systeme. Für die Behandlung bedeutet das, die vorhandenen Techniken auf die typischen Beschwerden des betreffenden Menschen auszurichten und seine alterierten Basisfunktionen wieder instanzzusetzen.

Im Workshop wird Gelegenheit gegeben, einige Techniken zu erproben, die zu einem spezifisch kopfschmerzbezogenen Interventionsprotokoll der Körperzentrierten Funktionellen Psychotherapie gehören; dazu zeigt ein Demonstrationsvideo, wie bei gleicher therapeutischer Intention die Basistechnik von Person zu Person modifiziert werden kann.

Silent lines and lineages (in English)

Collegial Symposium discussing aspects of female embodiment around (Non)-Motherhood.

For many centuries, the fulfillment of a woman's life was seen as giving birth to a son. Modern women of the west have won the freedom of choice or combining career and family. As women have a strong affinity to feelings of insufficiency experiences of a difficult birth or motherhood, unwanted or chosen childlessness, miscarriages, etc. stay often as a lifelong psychosomatic marker and wound in the system as on the other side beautiful experiences around motherhood reveal a potency and potential but both are rather neglected in the psycho-therapeutic discourse or just seen as individual trauma or fulfillment. The energetic activation of the vertical line through pelvis and upper body can support resources for transformation, integration and understanding. A collegial discussion will be initiated to create a bridge from personal experiences to professional attitudes, consequences and theories.

Presenter(s)

The acting in Characteroanalytic Vegetoterapy, and its application in function of the Structure (Psychotic, Borderline, Neurotic)

(in English and Spanish)

From the contributions of some orgonoterapeutas ,-fundamentally Ola Raknes and Federico Navarro, to the Vegetoterapy of W. Reich-, we have investigated and observed that the way to apply this systematics with the use of neuromuscular actings, must have a proper form for each human structure (Psychotic, borderline or neurotic), and must always be carried out within a setting with a specific psychotherapeutic relationship. Clinical and experiential exposure.

El “acting” (accion neuromusucular) en la Vegetoterapia Caracteroanalítica, y su aplicación en función de la Estructura (Psicótica, Borderline, Neurótica)

A partir de las aportaciones de algunos orgonoterapeutas , fundamentalmente Ola Raknes y Federico Navarro, a la Vegetoterapia de W.Reich, hemos investigado y observado, que la forma de aplicar esta sistemática con el uso de los actings neuromusculares, debe tener una forma propia para cada estructura humana (Psicótica, borderline o neurótica), y siempre se debe realizar dentro de un setting con una relación psicoterapéutica específica. Exposición clínica y vivencial.

The counselling-psychotherapeutic method of METAMORPHOSE

(in English, German)

The method of Metamorphose that I have developed, allows an incomparably far-reaching access to the individual and collective unconscious as it was accessible up to now by other advisory-psychotherapeutic methods. It integrates scientific findings and technologies from Psychoanalysis, Attachment-Psychotherapy, Systemic Family and Organization Constellations and Body Psychotherapy and implies a paradigm shift for psychosocial counselling, psychotherapy and civil conflict transformation. Particularly it is suited for the discipline of psychotraumatology.

It opens essentially new knowledge about the causes and pacification possibilities of human destruction and to the unconscious individual and collective transmission processes of undigested traumas. The method is suited amongst other things for counselling and psychotherapy for individuals, couples, families, supervision and management consultancy.

The Selfvaluefeeling. Transformation of a negative Selfvalue-image

(in English and German)

Any violated selfvalue creates negative selfvalue-images, which also affect the body. In this selfexperiential workshop we first will try to find a negative selfvalue-image and sense it in the body. During an intermediate-step we will dissociate from this negative image while expanding our consciousness into the space around our heart.

Then we will visualize a positive selfvalue-image we had in our past or we long for, and we will feel it also in our body. Finally we put both images side by side and may experience how the positive changes the negative and also our bodyawareness.

In the end we will share our experience.

Das Selbstwertgefühl. Transformation negativer Selbstwertbilder

Das verletzte Selbstwertgefühl hinterlässt negative Selbst-Bilder, die auch körperliche Auswirkungen haben. In diesem Selbsterfahrung-Workshop geht es darum, zunächst ein negatives Selbstwert-Bild aufzuspüren und körperlich zu empfinden. In einem Zwischenschritt desidentifiziert man sich von diesem negativen Selbstbild, indem man sein Bewusstsein auf den Herz-Raum ausweitet. In einem dritten Schritt visualisiert man ein erfahrenes oder ein ersehntes positives Selbstwertbild und empfindet es körperlich. Man stellt dann die beiden Bilder nebeneinander und kann erfahren, wie das positive Selbstwertbild das negative verändert und körperlich spürbar wird.

Abschließend werden die Erfahrungen ausgetauscht.

Presenter(s)

Joachim Vieregge, born in Berlin 1939, former High-School-teacher. Healing Practitioner (ECP), member of EABP, Bodypsychotherapy (CoreEnergetics) and System-Constellations. Office in Munich since 1985, Workshops and lectures on "Self-value-feeling" in many countries; Publications on meditation and spiritual bodypsychotherapy (only in German).

Psychotherapeutic Yoga (in English)

Yoga is said to be the oldest body-mind oriented discipline in the world. The intention of yoga has always been therapeutic. Yoga involves a variety of life-promoting processes that influences many dimensions of the human organism. By calling this workshop "psychotherapeutic yoga" we want to illustrate how modern yoga can preserve its healing intentions; by drawing on and including knowledge from modern psychotherapeutic approaches. Maximum 30 participants.

Presenter(s)

Heidi Presterud Wiese, Psychomotoric physiotherapist and yogateacher.

Kari Evelin Arellano Lorentzen, Clinical psychologist and yogateacher.
